All right so this next part of the lockdown half guard situation is when the person is being really annoying on top maybe flexible or they're just a guy who doesn't want to get swept right you'll encounter this when you roll with MMA guys um wrestlers right they're very some of them are very flexible in the knees flexible in the legs and you're trying to sweep them with the electric chair but you just can't get them over right so i got him in the whole half guard situation we're here i set up i got to this spot right here and then now right some people still call this half guard it's not like a you know some people also call this deep half but i'm not really in deep half i have a lockdown in i'm trying to electric chair the guy this generally happens when i don't check his arms if i can't push him away and he's pushing so far back onto me i still have my lockdown but his leg is here right from here what i'm gonna do is if he's grabbing my head whatever i'm just gonna pass his leg over to the other side he still feels kind of comfortable he thinks he can knee slice out but i have his legs in my lockdown and then from here again i can whip my leg all the way over and try to go for a leg lock but i want to get on top he starts to put his hand over on the other side i'm just gonna cut it before it hits the mat right a lot of times sometimes his hand is on the mat and i have to go down by the wrist not up by his elbows and blow his elbow out but you get by his wrist and take it right off the mat now from here again i didn't let go of the lockdown yet i still have it his leg is still is on my other shoulder now and now i get up on top and then from here i'm in a leg drag situation i should be able to pass somehow right his leg is over could he attack my leg kind of you know but i feel like man i got this top half situation i can put the leg drag in take him all the way up get to uh you know arm triangle or something like that right so let's see again right so i'm in here shoot all the way up i'm starting to bring the guy over i forget to check and now we're on top right this was an mma fight man he might start punching me there which the guy almost did and from here i forget how i even got his leg over top he might do it himself i put it over and then let's say he doesn't put his hands on the mat just like this i'll just cut that and then now i'm up on top of the room and my leg right to see him start to run around his back something like that all right that's called the stone trick i'm gonna do one quick all right so we're already here trying to back up for this and then yeah this happens a lot like look what he's trying to push over and i'm just trying to stay on top right the guy is going to be he don't know what's happening really unless he takes his closet i'm playing but he doesn't know what's going on right he's trying to stay on top right he can't get me over right and i'm just hanging here wow and then because he kept his lock down right there's no way i could get out and go for a knee bar or anything weird like that so you do like two things at once then if he gets to there on me it should be tilts to chew those i don't care if i lock his leg up like this what if i lock his leg like this he should be able to blast right through that get an underhook or whatever then i have to give up my back and he's got me right that stone sweep is uh a deeper down the rabbit hole version of what happens if you take the lock down to the next level right you may never need that or you might rarely need that in class until you actually need it then he likes crap i have to go for a lockdown i have to go for an electric chair here you're in that situation where the person just wants to play tight and then you end up getting deep down the line okay i guess it's stone sweep i wasn't planning on going for a stone sweep in that fight but it just happened right i tried the electric chair didn't work boom take him back the other way
