

Metadata: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=6bpm4Ws7wSQ>

In this situation, Pete the Greek is going to move towards me now. In that last scenario, he wasn't moving towards me. I was lunging towards him. This time, when I throw the donkey stance on, Pete will move towards me. Okay, it's very common. Okay, it's very common. They take the bait. Basically, you're throwing a big juicy fish in front of a bear, and he's like, oh man, I'm going to get that. And as they come and get it, we take advantage of it. Okay, so what happens is, let's do like this. Okay, what happens is, because I get my stance, I throw my donkey, and now the guy comes at me like this and clenches me. The fact that my hand is here is really not helping him at all. Okay, because it's giving me the ability, and it's not going to be as fast as the other one, but it's going to be an inch, inch, inch, inch, inch, and work your way through and find your body lock again. Okay, so you throw your donkey stance, and the guy doesn't just stand there like stand back, Pete. If he's just standing there, right, he's not doing anything, because I'm going to launch and try to get that body lock. Okay, but this time, he starts coming at me, and they grab onto you. It's a little harder this time. You have to like, you guys ever seen, like, oh, for a sec. You guys ever seen that video of Fernando Margarita, where he's like, you got to take the pants and put the pants on. They're opening up the guard. You know what I'm saying? He's pulling the guard, taking off the jeans. Yeah, he's talking about take off the jeans. It's kind of like that concept, dude. It's like you get here, and he grabs onto you, grab onto me. You kind of have to like take off the jeans, like Margarita style, and get yourself here, shake, shake, shake, shake, shake, shake. You know what I'm saying? So pretty common is I'm here with my opponent, like I throw the donkey stance, and they come and grab me, right? And now it's like, can you work your way through here? Okay, so it's like, it's a bear taking the bait. You know what I'm saying? Pete's the big bear. Probably could have chose a different animal, but he looks like a bear. It's like your stance. We're here fighting. Engage with me a little bit. Yeah, we're here a little bit. You know what I'm saying? As I go, I go donkey. Look at the single. It also leads to, it could be body lock or single if you like single leg. So this time I'll run the pipe on him. So I'll go regular stance. Throw my donkey. He grabs onto me. I use this to go single, and now run, run, run, run, run. And get the take down there. So it can look really cool if you do it right. Come on up, Pete. You all right? We'll go on a second. So good luck. Have fun. Get your hand back there when they come close to you, right? You use that grip to help you inch your way around to your body lock. And now do some kind of cool move from here. Thank you, Pete. Whoa.