All right, so now we're gonna do the wall work defense flow where we use that Russian to the D'Arce and with those attacks We're gonna also kind of show how he can get right back into the other attacks that we were doing before so We'll just pull them together nice and quick Russian to D'Arce He starts getting his elbow free, it's pommel, I'm sliding them out, here sandwich guillotine, here Two Boom, right get that attack now from here. He starts fighting come underneath the arm Come to the far side finish now from here. He starts getting his head free pass it loop it Palm to palm and I step off I finish my head and arm boom here So now from here we can get back into that other series right he gets on his side now He's defending so now from here I slide up and I attack here if he's hiding his head and I can't quite get that Now I'm gonna slide underneath catch the wrist now from here Elevate him up head stays tight go palm to palm fire my elbow down towards the mat Okay Again, we can do it a little more open that this time So here I go rushing Feed it Here when you finish that boom here So I get my tap one here his elbow starts coming out and I pommel now I slide Here get my sandwich guillotine Boom, he hand fights I slide under Come to that far side elbow finish his arm head starts coming up pass the arm across Secure the shoulder palm to palm Here finish He gets on his side slide Finish here can't quite get that maybe hiding the head slide under the jaw rotate catch the wrist Palm to palm drop finish
